

Pond swimmers warned by police

'Taking a dip at research park is dangerous'

POLICE are urging young people to stop swimming in a dangerous pond.

Haverhill police say that almost every day up to 100 youngsters gather at a pond on the town's research park to take a dip.

The pond is deep and unsafe, and the problem has now got so bad that the owners of the research park have introduced security patrols.

The Haverhill Research Park site includes a development of 150 new homes, and residents have been calling to complain about the swimmers.

A spokesman for Haverhill police said: "We are getting calls pretty much daily from residents about kids swimming in the pond on the Haverhill Research Park, leaving litter, and using the life buoys as rubber rings.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

"It's dangerous and deeper than it looks. It's really murky water with weeds underneath. Something could seriously go wrong.

"Parents need to be mindful about where their children are actually going swimming. The "no swimming" signs are up there. We can move them along but within a couple of hours they are back.

"It's so so dangerous, and it's annoying for residents. They are leaving copious amounts of rubbish.

"Plastic bags are seen floating in the lake, when we have just had baby ducklings hatch there.

"We are looking at a long-term solution with the research park. Some days there are 100 kids up there all trying to swim."

Nic Rumsey, director of research park developer Jaynic, confirmed that they were working to solve the problem.

He said: "The lakeside at Haverhill Research Park is open for local people to enjoy as a local amenity but that does not extend to using it for bathing.

"It is illegal and not safe to bathe in the lake and there are clear signs warning against this.

"Those who ignore these signs put theirs and possibly other people's lives at risk."

Mr Rumsey added: "Unfortunately we are now having to introduce security patrols in the evenings and at weekends to ensure the lake is not used for swimming – anyone found ignoring the signs will be escorted off the park and further action may be taken."

If you see anyone swimming in the research park pond, call Haverhill police on 101.

Tackling Ben Nevis - by night

MOST of us might think it was enough of a challenge to climb the tallest mountain in Britain - but one Haverhill woman chose to start her hike at 10.30pm.

Alison Bardoe, 46, of Maypole Terrace, climbed Ben Nevis last Friday night to raise money for the Alzheimer's Society.

She and her friend Joanna Warren Eastwood, 42, were inspired to take on the epic hike because a mutual friend's father suffers from Alzheimer's.

Alison said: "It was just an amazing experience. It was very, very tiring, very gruelling mentally and physically, but it was such a sense of achievement at the top."

"People don't understand the life-affirming thing you get at the top, after climbing over boulders."

Although both of the

HANNAH MIRSKY

friends had done some hiking before, neither of them had attempted anything this challenging.

It took them a gruelling four hours to reach the half-way mark. The walk took nine and a half hours in total, with the walkers arriving back at 8am on Saturday.

"We had people before us who were coming down the mountain as we were coming up," said Alison.

She went on: "It's not just a flat trek. You're stepping over things for hours and hours. It seems never-ending."

And even when it did end, the difficulty wasn't over for Alison: she injured her ankle just minutes from the marquee that marked the end of the trek.

"Trust me to do it right at the end!" she said. "At least I accomplished it limping."

But she says she would definitely take on a similar challenge for the Alzheimer's Society again.

She described the moment of stepping onto the peak of Ben Nevis, 1,344m above sea level: "It was like a blizzard, like stepping onto Everest."

"What on Earth was going on at that moment was just incredible."

She says she and Joanna have received plenty of support from friends and family, including some tips on the hike from a Scottish uncle.

They have each raised more than £500, and they have until the end of July to raise even more.

Eco team make school life greener

A HAVERHILL academy is the only secondary school in Suffolk to have a prestigious eco award - and a 60-strong team of green campaigners.

Castle Manor Academy's green team has completed projects such as growing produce, restoring an orchard, working with the community, planting wild flowers to attract wildlife, increasing recycling and reducing energy.

The school has received the "Eco Schools England Green Flag Award" after an assessment from Eco Schools

ECO FRIENDLY: Students and staff at Castle Manor

England involving a tour and student interviews.

Becky Baldwin is responsible for outdoor learning at the school and leads the eco team.

She said: "Making Castle Manor Academy an eco 'growing' school will be our legacy and is set to continue across the Castle Partnership of schools."

The next step is to offer training on green issues to other schools and groups.

PEOPLE

Dedicated councillor Paul dies aged 68

A FORMER town and borough councillor has died aged 68. Paul McManus (baptised John Paul) passed away from cancer on June 10 after a short illness. Mr McManus served as a St Edmundsbury borough councillor for the last four years, and was a town councillor for eight years. Originally from Northern Ireland, he moved to Haverhill in the early 1970s and worked for Three Counties Transport. He leaves four children and six grandchildren.

His wife Elaine said: "He was bubbly, friendly. He would help anybody."

His funeral is taking place on Thursday, July 16 at 1pm at St Felix Church.

Mugging victim gets £275 boost

AN 81-year-old who was mugged has received £275 raised by the community.

John Clarke, of Haverhill, was outside the Post Office in the High Street when someone grabbed a bag of money out of his hand.

The mugging took place at 9.30am on June 22. Later that day an online fundraising page was launched to replace the stolen money.

The funds were presented to Mr Clarke and his wife Doris by Sky Jordan, a mum who set up the fundraising page, and David Doughty, a photographer who raised money at his shop.

Sky said: "They were really quite grateful. His wife had a tear in her eye."

COURT

Councillor was over drink limit

A PARISH councillor has admitted getting behind the wheel while more than twice the drink-drive limit.

Edward Ninian Bickerton appeared at Cambridge Magistrates' Court on Friday and entered a guilty plea for the offence, which took place on June 10.

Paul Brown, prosecuting, told the court that Bickerton drove his pick-up truck from Whittlesford to the Four Wentways roundabout, down the A505 and onto the A1307 to his address in Horseheath.

It was his ninth wedding anniversary, the court was later told, and he was drinking with a friend.

When police arrested Bickerton at his home, in West Wickham Road, he had 92 micrograms of alcohol per 100ml of breath. The legal limit is 35 micrograms.

Bickerton, 41, who sits on Horseheath Parish Council, already had six penalty points on his licence, and had a previous conviction for excess alcohol in 1996.

DEBRA FOX
@DebraFoxCN

Lyndsay Hayhow, mitigating, said: "There was a very early acceptance of his guilt and he was helpful to the police officer who attended the village."

Immediately after the offence, Bickerton tendered his resignation to Horseheath Parish Council – but all members refused to accept it, Mrs Hayhow added. He is his family's sole breadwinner, the barrister continued, and works as a self-employed builder.

His wife suffers from a number of illnesses and is on the liver transplant list, so he also takes a lot of responsibility for the couple's two children.

Mrs Hayhow added: "He also has a number of voluntary commitments – he helps neighbours, helps at the church and helps through his work as a parish councillor."

"Everyone has rallied about him in the past three weeks."

"He has also been trying to start up an apprentice who has a driving licence that he can train up with him and rely on for transport."

Bickerton currently has no employees.

Magistrates ordered that he complete 40 hours of unpaid work, and disqualified him from driving for 24 months.

He can reduce this disqualification by 24 weeks if he completes a drink-drive rehabilitation course by November 15, 2016.

Richard Turfitt, chairman of the bench, also ordered Bickerton to pay a £150 court charge, £85 towards prosecution costs and a £60 victim surcharge.

LOOKING GOOD: Pupils from Stour Valley Community College in Clare arrive at Belchamp Community House for their prom

EDUCATION

Students sparkle at school proms

IT was a glamorous end to the school year as the students of local secondary schools turned out to enjoy their proms.

The Castle Manor Academy prom took place on the evening of Friday, July 3 at Chilford Hall in Linton. The Samuel Ward prom was held on July 2 at the Haverhill Arts Centre.

The Castle Manor Year 11s arrived at the prom in vintage cars and buses, and were treated to a disco and fish-and-chip supper.

Their event was funded using £1,500 raised by the prom committee. Organiser and head of house Giulietta Cianciola said: "I'm really pleased with how the event went; the students looked amazing and had really made an effort."

"They seemed to really enjoy the evening, made even more special by the money raised by the prom committee. They worked really hard to make sure their prom was a success."

The Castle Manor prom king was Ethan Woodley and the prom queen was Eden Bavester.

The Samuel Ward prom was attended by about 150 Year 11 students. They arrived on the high street in an array of old vehicles, including classic cars, an old bus and Lambrettas.

Chris Dale, vice-principal of Samuel Ward, said: "It was great to witness their grand arrival and that the rain managed to hold off."

"This year's Year 11 have epitomised the Samuel Ward values in all they do. Good luck for the future. We will miss those that are leaving us but look forward to the majority returning to our sixth form in September."

Proms were also held at other schools in the area, including Stour Valley Community College in Clare and Linton Village College.

The Stour Valley Prom took place at Belchamp Community House in Belchamp St Paul on Thursday, June 25.

Students arrived in a variety of vehicles including the A-Team van alongside various fast cars, camper vans and vintage vehicles. Entertainment included music from the Year 11 band Blank Space and a disco that went on late into the night.

A Stour Valley spokeswoman said: "Students and staff all enjoyed their final opportunity to spend time together before results day in August."

The Linton Village College Prom took place at the school on Friday, June 26.

Organiser Charlotte Foster said: "The class of 2015 at Linton Village College were treated to a Hollywood-themed evening."

"Students arrived in a variety of vehicles from wheelbarrows to vintage cars."

"As they stepped out onto the red carpet they were greeted by friends and family before disappearing inside to a drinks reception; with entertainment from the Linton Jazz Band."

"Once all the students had arrived they made their way down to the school hall to find it decorated with red and gold swags and six-foot-tall Oscar statues."

"They were entertained during the evening by a magician, casino tables, mocktail bar and disco."

Why not just put up council tax?

WHAT often looks good on paper or in the council chamber is not always what happens in real life.

I have maintained a garden waste recycling facility in my garden for many years but still make use of the brown bin collection. Why is this, you ask? Because there are items like tree cuttings and prunings from shrubs which are more suitable to large-scale recycling than at home.

This is because they are bulky, take a long time to compost on a low-heat, small-scale domestic bin. In a large-scale recycling facility like the council should be running these items break down far quicker and generate considerable amount of heat. Also, cardboard packaging is really not suitable for domestic recycling and if the brown bin option is not available these items will transfer to the blue bin. Not a saving at all, just a transfer to another area.

We already have fly-tipping problems because St Edmundsbury thought they could save money by charging to collect larger items of domestic waste. Those who can afford to pay do but many can't and fly-tipping ensures. If there is a charge for brown bin collection more fly-tipping will ensure.

Not only that, those who demand and pay for a brown bin collection will mean you will still need lorries and crew to go around to collect and empty the waste so how does that effect your savings? What happens when people put bins out but refuse to pay any more? More stinking bins with rotting vegetation in. Then there is a health problem. How will you know what bins are paid for and what are not? Another example of a tax on the poor.

As to the savings you expect to make, what about the redundancy payments, cost of closing existing facilities etc? And if you keep the recycling facility to recycle the council's own green waste why not keep it going for everyone? There are economies of scale as it is far more efficient to recycle large-scale especially as there is an end product that could be used by the council as a top dressing, plus it could be marketed. The heat generated by the waste should be used to perhaps generate electricity, thereby making a gain from the feed-in tariff.

Commercial waste companies manage to generate profits from the collection and recycling of household and commercial waste. With no shareholders to pay dividends there is every reason to believe that a non-commercial organisation could at least run a similar operation without loss. And by the way, the public already believes they are being charged for their bin collection and disposal through their council tax bill. Adding an additional charge for brown bin collection will seem like a double charge to them and would seem unfair when most of them are struggling with the cutbacks to their

My neighbours, Bridget and Frank, are not young any more yet they take care of their gardens so well and have the most beautiful blooms in the street. I think they would be very proud if they saw one of their stunning white roses in the local paper!" Well done, Bridget and Frank!

income etc.

So let's not have any more smarmy gimmicky 'We have not put the council tax up again' statements if you want to charge through the back door. Be honest with people, put up council tax if you must but don't start charging extra on top just to make the council tax bill look good.

Getting away with vandalism

AS Dave Bax pointed out ('Anger at loss of wildflowers', News, July 2) the mowing of the wild flower verges at the Flood Park was inexcusable.

In a reply to Mr Bax, the Environment Agency says this work was necessary to maintain flood defences but fails to explain why it could not be delayed until at least early autumn. Alas, there are people on councils and government agencies who have no empathy with wildlife; they hide behind the cloak of officialdom to get away with acts of environmental vandalism.

Time to shut the skate park

THE time has come to shut down the Howe Road Skate Park.

That is until such time as the users learn to show some respect to this facility; provided for and maintained by the council tax payers of Haverhill – this morning, Saturday July 4, I would suggest the skate park is unusable due to the amount of broken glass on the ramps and paths.

Like many residents and regular walkers in the area, I have cleared litter (again) from the surrounding area; despite there being four waste bins in the park area itself and the final straw this morning... the human excrement in the verges and trees adjacent to the park. Who in their right mind thinks that this represents acceptable behaviour in any way shape or form?

CHARITY

A boost for befriending

A BEFRIENDING charity has won £25,000 in a national competition.

YOPEY, based in Stradishall, came first out of more than 3,000 charities in the Aviva Community Fund Challenge. The charity won enough votes to be considered in the final by a panel of judges from the insurer.

Founder of YOPEY Tony Gearing, right, said: "It was a bit like Britain's Got Talent and I was the performer."

The charity is now looking for schools and care homes in the Haverhill area to take part in its befriending scheme.

The scheme, which has been trialling for two years, links schools with care homes and gives young people training on supporting elderly people with dementia.

After training the young people can visit their local care home and take part in group activities or befriend particular individuals. They can also write the life story of their friend, which acts as a memento and helps the home to care for the resident.

Mr Gearing said: "We want to

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

banish the expression 'I've lost my mum or dad' when an elderly parent is diagnosed with dementia.

"We want to enable young people to cope better with dementia. This need is going to grow because, as we live longer, it is estimated that one in three of us will get dementia."

The £25,000, is the largest sum ever awarded to YOPEY in its 11-year history. It will allow the charity to link up five more care homes and 10 schools.

As well as schools and care homes, the charity is looking for active retired people to act as volunteer liaison officers. It would also like to hear from app companies and amateur photographers who would help to promote the charity and the scheme.

As well as the scheme, YOPEY chooses "Young People of the Year" across the region.

If you can help, call 01440 821654 or email tony@yopey.org.

Kick damages new fence

A NEW fence has been damaged in Haverhill's Clements Drive.

The damage, which police believe may have been caused by a kick, was done between 1am and 2am on July 4.

The fence was outside a row of bungalows.

PCSO Lorna Chapman said: "The people in the bungalows have spent an awful long time fighting to have a fence there."

Anyone with information about the vandalism can call Haverhill police on 101 quoting crime reference number HH/15/1628.

Prom-ising end to the arts festival

POMP AND CIRCUMSTANCE:
Audience members at the Haverhill Arts Centre

HAVERHILL'S arts festival came to an end with a "Last Night of the Proms"-style event on Sunday at the Haverhill Arts Centre.

The Haverhill Operatic Society, with guests from the Haverhill Choral Society, performed numbers from musicals. The second half of the programme saw performances from the award-winning Haverhill Silver Band, conducted by Mark Ager. The finale, involving both the choir and the band, saw Union Jack hats worn and flags waved to Pomp and Circumstance, Fantasia on British Sea Songs, Rule Britannia and Jerusalem.

Road closures in village as gas works get started

GAS works which will see a main road closed for nearly a month will begin next week.

Cavendish Road in Clare was set to be closed for nearly seven weeks, but feedback from local residents saw this reduced to just four.

The work begins on Monday, July 13, and for the first week, temporary traffic lights will be in place on Cavendish Road.

The street will then be closed from Harp Lane to Church Street from July 17 to August 18.

From August 10, temporary traffic lights will be in place in the village's Church Street.

Public drop-in sessions are being held at the Bell Hotel from 10am to 4pm on July 13 and 14. Staff from National Grid will be on hand to answer any questions.

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

The works are necessary to replace iron gas mains with hardwearing plastic pipes.

Andrew Stone, National Grid operations interface manager, said: "It is vital we replace ageing gas mains so local people can continue to enjoy safe and reliable gas supplies."

"We have been working with the community to minimise the impact of this work as much as we can."

"We will be working seven days a week to complete this project as soon as possible and we would urge people to bear with us while we carry out this essential renewal."

Pedestrian access to Cavendish Road will be maintained at all times, and businesses will remain open.

Motorists are asked to leave extra time for their journeys and use the following diversion route: A1092 towards Long Melford, A134 towards Bury St Edmunds, A1302, A143 towards Haverhill, A1017, and then the A1092 towards Clare.

The public bus running from Haverhill to Sudbury via Clare will be split. Passengers will be dropped off in Clare and asked to walk down Cavendish Road to where they can be picked up to continue their journey.

To find out more, visit ngrid.com/clare or contact National Grid customer services on 0800 096 5678.

CRIME

Appeal after burglars steal jewellery from Wixoe home

POLICE are appealing for witnesses after a burglary near Haverhill.

The break-in took place in Stour Vale, Wixoe, between 9.10am and 7.10pm on Tuesday, June 30.

Police believe that entry was gained to the property through the front door and a quantity of jewellery was stolen.

They would like to speak to anyone who saw or heard anything suspicious in the village.

This is part of Suffolk Police's long-running "See it, hear it, report it" campaign to tackle burglaries across the county.

Calls regarding the burglary should be made to DC Tom Kent at the Bury St Edmunds Priority Crime Team on 101 quoting reference HH/15/1598.

You can also contact Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

‘Pay for garden waste collection’

GARDEN waste may no longer be collected for free under proposals being discussed by the county council.

On July 14, Suffolk County Council's cabinet will consider proposals to introduce a new charged service for residents who want their garden waste collected.

The council will be the first member of the Suffolk Waste Partnership, which also includes St Edmundsbury Borough Council, to consider the proposals.

The purpose of the proposals is to encourage home composting. If all Suffolk's councils adopted them, they would save about £2 million a year.

A charged collection scheme for garden waste, which in some areas includes food waste, is already in place in Babergh and Mid Suffolk.

Suffolk County Council's cabinet member for environment and public protection Cllr Matthew Hicks said: "Should Cabinet support this proposal, further work is required within the partnership to consider how we can incentivise home composting further. This may include offering composting bins at a reduced cost."

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

Suffolk Waste Partnership chairman Cllr Clive Arthey added: "The Suffolk Waste Partnership has made great strides towards joint working over the last 16 years but there are service areas where significant differences still remain. Our organic waste services are one such area."

"The proposal being considered is a potential solution to a complex issue but reservations still remain. I hope we will find a solution that is consistent across Suffolk and works for all eight authorities."

However, the proposals have been a cause for concern among local residents. Gwen Dalton, assistant secretary of the Manor Road Allotment Association, said: "I think it's wrong that they should charge us for it, because they already charge us in our council tax."

Secretary of the Chalkstone Tenants and Residents' Association Ernie Goody said: "There are items like tree cuttings and pruning's from shrubs which are more suitable to large-scale recycling than at home. This is because they are bulky, take a long time to compost on a low heat small-scale domestic bin. In a large-scale recycling facility like the council should be running these items break down far quicker and generate considerable amount of heat."

100k race for rugby captain

MOST people would be satisfied with taking on a marathon to raise cash for a good cause.

But not Sturmer resident James Gosden, who has decided to take on a 100km ultramarathon.

James, who is also the new first-team captain at Saffron Walden Rugby Club, will complete the Race the Stones event from Oxfordshire to Stonehenge alongside his teammate Harry Beddows.

It's all in aid of the Matt Hampson Foundation, a cause set up by the former English rugby union prop who became a tetraplegic after a scrummaging practice accident.

A COMMUNITY extravaganza has been hailed as a success.

HEALTH

Kristina's lining up for breast cancer campaign

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

A HAVERHILL woman is supporting a campaign that could lead to personalised breast cancer treatment.

Kristina Bright, 36, of Thurlow Place, appeared in a video created by the Addenbrooke's Charitable Trust to raise awareness of their new Bracode campaign.

The campaign supports a study into how new information about different types of breast cancer could be used to treat patients.

Dr Jean Abraham, consultant in medical oncology at Addenbrooke's, said: "It may be possible, if we understand the genetic changes that have taken place in each breast cancer patient, that we can make changes to their care to ensure that the treatment they receive is the most effective for them."

"But we need to investigate this in clinical practice. We need to know, for example, that the genes in patients' tumours can be sequenced quickly enough and at a cost acceptable to the NHS."

THE BRA'S THE STAR: Kristina, fourth from right, with the other women in the Bracode campaign, which aims to show that as with bras, one size doesn't fit all for treatment

"We need to monitor, over time, which tumour types respond to which treatments so future patients can be spared those which cause more harm than good."

In the video, which also features actress Patricia Hodge, Kristina appears with nine other women in a bra and jeans.

She said: "They wanted some people who were body-confident, and I had just lost 20 pounds!"

"It was really exhausting being under hot lights all day, but it was really nice to meet some of the other ladies who had had breast cancer."

"It was emotional for them, and for all of us. It was a really inspiring day."

Receptionist and mother-of-six Kristina also has a 15-year-old stepson whose mother died of breast cancer aged 27, when he was just one and a half.

Kristina said: "Any treatment for breast cancer is worth it."

History Boys

The History Boys,
Cambridge Arts Theatre,
until Saturday, July 11 at 7.45pm.
Tickets £15-£30 from (01223)
503333 / cambridgeartstheatre.com.

YOU'VE (almost certainly) seen the film, but have you seen the play? Alan Bennett's educational masterpiece The History Boys has come to Cambridge Arts Theatre, and if you missed the film cast – James Corden, Dominic Cooper, Russell Tovey and Richard Griffiths – in their original casting on stage when it debuted in 2004 at the National Theatre, now's your chance to make amends.

Sure, Corden and co. still aren't in this production from the Sell A Door Theatre Company, but at least you'll be seeing Bennett's work as intended.

It tells of a group of Sheffield grammar school students preparing for their Oxbridge exams, caught in the crossfire of opposing teaching styles: jump through hoops à la temporary tutor Tom Irwin, or be genuinely interested in learning for learning's sake, promoted by general studies teacher Hector.

Witty, intriguing and powerfully written, it'll make you laugh and your brain work. We caught up with Poldark actor Richard Hope to find out what it's like playing the troubled but inspirational Hector.

What first attracted you to The History Boys?

Alan Bennett really. I was the runner-up for a play years ago that he did, so I've always wanted to work with him since and Hector is such a wonderful part to do. With Bennett I rank him with Frayn and Stoppard, I really like the way they use language, and [the play's] funny.

Have you had the opportunity to spend much time with Bennett since winning the part?

He was involved in the casting and we've been in touch with him quite a lot. He doesn't come out much nowadays, but he's been involved and given the show his blessing.

How would you describe Hector? Richard Griffiths's version was quite an imposing, rambunctious image.

If you read the blurb it always says he's a "maverick teacher". I've approached it post-Savile; it was written before that happened [it is alluded to in the play that Hector has a proclivity for inappropriately touching the boys he teaches]. The core of Hector is the fact he inspires his students to learn poetry, to learn things that are not normally on the curriculum, so that was the area I wanted to pursue, despite the other side of the story, which comes out as the play goes along. It's the way that you teach, how we teach and what we teach that should be at the forefront of his life.

What do you want people to take away from the show?

We hope that people, when they leave the theatre, they're given three visions of how you teach by different teachers, and I don't know if Bennett even answers it at the end, it's left to you as the audience to decide: which one do you like? At the Q&A's it's quite interesting, even though Hector's guilty of abusing some of the kids, people still say they'd like to be taught by him because he is an inspiration.

What were you like at school?

I think I was annoying. I was always trying to find out what I should learn. I was lucky, I had some good teachers and again, it was people doing stuff outside the curriculum that inspired you to do other things.

Why do you think The History Boys has been so popular and become so iconic?

I think it's because it's very funny. I've heard people say: "I wasn't going to come and see that because I thought it'd be a bit too high-brow", but actually they did enjoy it. You can enjoy it on lots of different levels.

How does the play differ to the film?

The film doesn't have the strong language in it that the play has. The film avoids a lot of the issues, you don't see anything that happens in the film, you don't see it in the play really, but it's spoken about. The song sequences are there, and we have a very talented cast straight out of drama school, the next generation of very good actors – they keep me on my toes.

Cambridge is the last stop on this current tour. What do you have lined up next?

I'm doing series 2 of Poldark. I play [banker] Harris Pascoe, and at the end of series one you see him setting up a loan for Ross Poldark, and in series two all those things unravel, so for me, season two is much meatier.

It's being broadcast around the world. Did you ever envisage the show doing so well?

No, gradually things come round and you don't know if it will work or not. It had such phenomenal success when it was first done in the 70s. Some people said we were onto a turkey: 'Why do that when it's already been done?' But I think the script is great, they've got some really wonderful leads and they spent their time casting and finding the right people. It's become a global phenomenon; the only time I've had anything like that was when I played Hooper in the original Brideshead Revisited [starring Jeremy Irons].

Prestigious award win for local estate agency

PROPERTY company CXG has received The Gold award for East of England Letting Agency of the Year at the prestigious Lettings Agency of the Year Awards 2015 in association with The Sunday Times and The Times and sponsored by Zoopla Property Group. Last month, more than 550 leading letting agents from throughout the UK attended a glittering ceremony at The Lancaster London Hotel, opposite Hyde Park, where the winners of the most highly regarded awards in the industry were revealed. The winners were presented with their awards by six-time world champion and marathon ace, Paula Radcliffe MBE (pictured, left, with the SCG team) with renowned journalist, author and newsreader Penny Smith acting as compere. Award winners were decided following a rigorous judging process by a panel of 20 industry experts who assessed initial entry submissions before conducting an extensive review of the entrants, which included over 150 hours of telephone interviews and independent mystery shopping exercises. The whole of the judging process was overseen by the property ombudsman, Christopher Hamer, and David Cox, managing director designate of ARLA acted as arbiter. These awards are widely recognised as the most prestigious and difficult to win. There were more than 5,000 offices represented this year, but only the very best of the best were crowned as winners. CXG was recognised for their hard work and commitment to the industry and was delighted to receive the award. Owner of CXG, Daniel Pilley commented: "This award is a fantastic achievement for us as it is testament to the hard work and commitment all of our staff put in to providing our landlords and tenants with a professional and reliable service that keeps the interest of both parties at the heart of everything we do." A website listing all the winning companies with comments from the judges as to why they won can be found at lettingsagencyoftheyear.com. For further information, contact the team at CXG on (01440) 712216 or email lettings@cxggroup.co.uk.

Volvo's 'stunning' XC90 wins Car of the Year title

CHAMPAGNE corks will be flying at Volvo tonight after the all-new XC90 SUV was named Auto Express Car of the Year.

The XC90 is the first car to have been conceived, designed and built following Volvo's takeover by Chinese firm Geely.

It follows in the footsteps of its predecessor, which won the Auto Express going back in 2003, before continuing largely unchanged for more than a decade.

Auto Express' editor-in-chief, Steve Fowler, said: "The new XC90 has been a long time coming, but it's been well worth the wait."

"Geely has provided the backing for Volvo to produce one of the best cars in the world, and that's exactly what they've done – the XC90 is a stunning car. Geely must be very pleased with its investment in Volvo right now."

The Volkswagen Group did particularly well, picking up 10 of the 19 awards handed out to the best cars in their class. Skoda secured two 'Best Car' nods for the Citigo and Superb,

STAR TURNS: The Land Rover Defender, left, and right, the 2015 'Auto Express' Car of the Year winner, the Volvo XC90

Seat won two for its Leon and Leon Cupra, Volkswagen netted another two for the Polo and Passat, and while Porsche celebrated a win for the 911 GT5, Audi won three awards for the A6, TT Coupe and A3 Cabriolet.

A special award was also given to the Land Rover Defender. It has become the first car to join the Auto Express Hall of Fame after a peerless history of service.

A symbol of Britishness and a huge part of the country's automotive heritage, the Defender is about to be replaced, making the timing of this award particularly poignant.

Steve commented: "We're delighted that the Defender is the first car to ever be inducted into the Auto Express Hall of Fame.

"It's a car that has enriched so many lives around the world for such a long period of time, but best of all, it's an example of British engineering at its finest."

"It's still an outstanding vehicle today."

Vauxhall's free in-car telematics opportunity

VAUXHALL is bringing OnStar, its in-car telematics system, to the UK this summer, which includes a high-speed 4G mobile network, emergency response notification and stolen vehicle recovery technology.

The system will be free for customers for the first year, and will be available in selected models in Vauxhall's passenger car range from August.

Debuting at the 2015 Frankfurt Motor Show in September, the first all-new Vauxhall to get OnStar will be the Brit-built Astra, which arrives in UK showrooms in October.

Based in Luton, OnStar's European headquarters is set to open for business this summer. Globally, OnStar already serves around seven million customers in the United States, Canada, China and Mexico. As well as the UK, OnStar will be available in 13 other markets across Europe.

Commenting on the programme rollout, Tim Tozer, Vauxhall's chairman and managing director, said: "With OnStar, Vauxhall is bringing the latest connectivity technology to a wider audience. OnStar will make driving safer as well as offering new innovations in infotainment and telematics. And best of all, the system will be free to customers for the first year of ownership."

If an airbag deploys, OnStar will be alerted automatically and an advisor will then contact the vehicle to determine whether help is required. If there is no response, emergency services are requested.

Available 24/7 and 365 days a year, OnStar advisors are located at the OnStar service centre in Luton. At a push of an SOS button, OnStar users can request assistance whenever they deem it necessary, for example, if they witness an accident. The new system also includes a roadside assistance service to cover breakdowns.

OnStar will be able to assist vehicle owners and police if a vehicle with the system is stolen. Remote ignition block will allow OnStar to send a remote signal to the vehicle that blocks the engine from starting once it has been reported stolen.

And, in a bid to make fault diagnosis easier, OnStar can provide subscribers with a monthly vehicle diagnostics email. A check can be requested at any time at the push of a button, providing peace of mind before setting off on a longer journey, for example.

Vauxhall: OnStar will be free to customers for first year of new car ownership

Stokes and Turner are top of the class

Golf

FIONA Stokes and Tom Turner both triumphed on their home course when Haverhill hosted the Suffolk Schools Western Region Championship.

Stokes won the girls' nett competition with an impressive round of nett 67, which included two birdies and an eagle on the par-five 10th hole.

Turner took victory in the boys' nett competition after going round in a nett 61, slashing his handicap by six shots to 19 under the exceptional score reduction.

In total, there were 36 competitors in the medal competition and another 11 juniors taking part in the beginners' 10-hole event.

The other winners were Harvey Watts in the individual boys' scratch competition, Alex Earle in the scratch to 15 handicap stableford, Georgia Parker in the 16 to 28 handicap stableford, Rio Everitt in the over 28 handicap stableford and Harvey Sandry in the beginners' competition.

The team prize was won by County Upper School on 68 points, with the best two from three stableford scores to count.

Mark Wray and Kevin Snow came out on top when Rob Viney hosted his Captain's Day at Haverhill.

The day was open to all sections of the club and had a varying format of holes one to six played as greensomes, holes seven to 12 as foursomes and holes 13 to 18 as individual stableford, Jamie Morse and Steve Brooks were third on 54, while nearest the pin for the men was won by Ivan Drury on the 16th and nearest the pin in two on the 18th by Mary Sail.

Special prizes were awarded to the highest score by a husband/wife pairing, which was won by Chris and John Grainger.

The best score for the pair including a junior was won by Dan and Carl Walker and the best score for the team with two ladies was won by Linda Alexander and Sail.

Viney gave the prize presentation and went on to thank all the volunteers who assisted him on the day.

He also announced that £208 was raised for his charity for the year through selling 'mulligans' to retake shots and the proceeds will go to the National Autistic Society.

Alexander won Haverhill ladies' midweek medal, carding nett 69 to finish four ahead of Gerry Wheatley.

Chris Grainger was third on 76.

Wheatley took victory in the Saturday medal with 71, while Anna Fairhead beat Pauline Calmet on countback for second after both scored 82.

The men of Haverhill's senior section retained the Alfa Romeo Shield after drawing the individual matchplay competition, held over 10 holes, with the ladies.

Haverhill must wait to see if they have done enough to qualify for the Curry Cup semi-finals after a 9-9 draw at home to The Essex in their final league match of the season.
